VASSAR'S MATHEMATICS

One of Its Graduates Taught That Eight Gills Make a Pint.

She was a Vassar girl, and she had come to visit her sister. The sister just at this time is paying particular attention to a very small girl who will call the Vassar young woman auntie when she gets so she can talk Besides the three mentioned females there were in the family a husband (who didn't count for much at this juncture) and a hired girl who was empress of all she surveyed.

One morning the hired girl thought it was just about time for her to visit the World's fair. Accordingly she packed her trunk and walked out, first putting a large baking of bread and two cakes in the oven. Two or three hours later the Vassar girl strolled out into the kitchen for something or other and discovered the bread and cakes burned to a crisp. Then she said several things in Greek and instituted a search for the empress. But the empress was no more. The family consultation which followed brought out the fact that the husband was obliged to eat once a day at least, and the Vassar girl boldly threw herself into the breach and declared that she would cook.

She pushed back the bangs from her classic brow, rolled up the sleeves of her empire gown and began to cook. Things ran smoothly until it came time to make the coffee. Now, it so happens that the husband is a crank about his coffee. He likes it strong. The Vassar girl knew this, and she went in to her sister and asked for instructions. The sister gave the instructions very minutely. There were a certain number of gills of water to be used and a certain number of tablespoonfuls of coffee. Dinner time came, and when the coffee was poured out it was found to be that pale, old gold color so much affected by the coffee of boarding houses. Not a word was said, but at the next meal the Vassar girl was nervous. Coffee was poured out, and it was very, very blond.

"Say," said the husband, who still continued to count for but very little, "what's the matter with this coffee?"

"I'm sure I don't know," said the Vassar girl "I made it just as I was told to."

The coffee was paler than ever at the next meal. The husband ventured to kick, but was promptly squelched. At the next meal it was so weak that the flavor could not be smelled, to say nothing of being tasted. The Vassar girl was low in her mind, but she still maintained a bold front. "I'm following your wife's recipe," she said chillingly to the husband. I don't know that it's my fault that it isn't strong."

Dinner time came around and with it the coffee, which was but a ghost of what coffee should be. The husband looked at that which had been poured out for him and remarked, "Sure you make this stuff right, sis?"

"Certainly," replied the Vassar girl. "Don't you suppose I know enough to follow simple directions?"

"Dunno," said the husband.

"What do you mean?" asked the Vassar girl, with fine indignation.

"Oh, nothing," replied the husband pacifically, "only it's blamed funny."

The Vassar girl looked unutterable things, and the meal proceeded in silence. Finally the husband broke out, "Say, sis, do you use that gill cup in measuring the water?"

"Yes," replied the Vassar girl shortly.

"Well, how many gills are there in a pint down at Vassar?"

"Is this a kindergarten?" asked the Vassar girl.

"No, but I just thought I would ask you."

The Vassar girl smiled a smile of infinite scorn. "At Vassar, just as everywhere else," she said loftily, "there are eight gills in a pint."

And the husband was brute enough to laugh.—Buffalo Express.

THE CHANGE OF RATIO.

Some congressmen, who do not believe in a single gold standard nor yet in the free coinage of silver as it was prior to the demonetization act of 1873, favor a change of ratio from 16 to 1 so as to put more silver in the dollar. This idea is combatted by nearly all the straight-out silver men, as they say the dollar is large enough now, in fact, its size has been urged against its use by the gold men.

Statisticians inform us that the silver coinage of the world, outside of the United States, is valued at $3,300,000,000. This was coined upon a ratio of about 15½ to 1. If the United States changes the ratio to 18 to 1 or 20 to 1 it will have to recoin every standard dollar in the country, as they would have less value than a new dollar based on the ratio of 18 to 1. Other nations would not adopt this new ratio, because it would necessitate the recoinage of their silver and entail a loss of $500,000,000 or $600,000,000. The United States would have a different ratio from all other nations and its silver coins, in proportion to their current value, would contain more silver than those of any other country.

A change of ratio by the United States alone would therefore be impracticable. We can adopt free coinage at the present ratio and successfully maintain it against the world. If other nations send their silver here to be coined, as gold men say they would do if our mints are opened to silver, they will have to invest it here, as American coins do not pass current in foreign countries, and if we find we are getting the worst of it by disposing of wheat, cotton, corn and other products for silver, the price of these commodities will advance so that foreigners will gain nothing by bringing their silver here to be coined and invested.

History gives no instance of a nation having too much gold and silver. If the ratio is changed so that more silver is put in the dollar, foreign nations which produce no silver will purchase our coins and mint them at a less ratio. If free coinage is adopted by the United States, the price of silver bullion will immediately advance to $1.29 per ounce and there will be more for sale at less than that price. It will have a fixed value, as a metal used for money should have, and there will be no 60-cent nor 70-cent dollars, as the gold men allege there is now.

WHAT HOKE SMITH'S PAPER WANTS.

The Atlanta Journal, a paper owned by the secretary of the interior, which a week ago endorsed the president's message, now calls upon congress to pass a free coinage bill for both silver and gold and have enough silver put in the silver dollar to put it on a parity with gold, It says Cleveland and his cabinet and the Democratic leaders of the house are squarely in favor of the plan. As the Atlanta Journal has been in favor of the unconditional repeal of the Sherman bill and has not heretofore intimated that it wanted silver coined on any terms, the change is regarded as significant. Until recently every gold trust papar in the country favored the coinage of silver upon the terms named, that is to put as much silver in the dollar as London brokers are willing to sell for a dollar. This would necessitate the recoinage of all the standard dollars in circulation or held in the treasury, as it would take the mints years to recoin the dollars and the bullion in the treasury. It does not suit the silver men who are making a fight for the present ratio of 16 to 1, and will not vote for a higher one as it would degrade silver.

It is generally believed by silver men that if a bill for the free coinage of silver cannot be passed at the present ratio it cannot be passed if the ratio is changed to 18 to 1. So they will fight until driven into the last ditch for keeping the standard dollar at its present size and weight and making its coinage free.

STEWART'S CURRENCY BILL.

A report was industriously circulated by several newspapers, which claim to favor free coinage, while upholding those who are known to be opposed to it, that Senator Stewart had introduced a bill authorizing the issue of $100,000,000 of government bonds. The JOURNAL contradicted the rumor and gave a synopsis of the Stewart bill, showing that instead of authorizing the issue of bonds, it provides for the issuance of greenbacks with which to redeem bonds and thus afford immediate financial relief to the country.

The enemies of Senator Stewart, who has a few in Nevada, notwithstanding he received every vote cast in both houses of the legislature for United States senator, pretended to believe that he had deserted the silver cause, joined the goldbugs and introduced a bill to issue bonds in accordance with the wishes of the gold trust. The Congressional Record of August 9, 1893, page 26, contains the full text of the bill, with the remarks of Senator Stewart, which the JOURNAL publishes in full, that the people may see for themselves that the bill is not to issue bonds to withdraw money from circulation, but to issue more money and get it into circulation by purchasing bonds at a premium not to exceed 12 per cent on the face value of such bonds.

THE SILVER DEBATE.

Congressman Sibley Speaks in Favor of Free Coinage.

A BARBAROUS EXHIBITION.

More Failures Reported—Virginia Democrats.

THE SILVER DEBATE.

Sibley of Pennsylvania Favors Silver.

WASHINGTON, August 18.—Congressman Sibley of Pennsylvania opened the debate in the house in favor of bimetallism. He favored the proposition of Johnson of Ohio providing that holders of United States bonds might deposit those securities with the government, receiving therefor treasury notes. The time had come, he said, when the clearing-houses of great cities should no longer dominate and control the policy of the 67,000,000 of workers of this land. Sibley caused some laughter by the manner in which he paid his respects to the New York Reform Club, bankers and goldbugs Since he (Sibley) had been in Washington he had been asked why he, comfortably off in this world's goods, and coming from Pennsylvania, should take the position that he now did.

His reply was that the people of Pennsylvania could still read, write and think. They read their bibles and they knew that the command was just as true to-day as it had been when it was thundered from Sinai, "Thou shalt not steal." [Applause.] The gentlemen in favor of a single gold standard said that England was against bimetallism; that France was against it; that Germany was against it, and even that our administration was against it, [laughter] but no such opposition could put out the spark of liberty in this continent. [Applause.] It was said that the odds were against the bimetallism. Granted. What then? Should they ask for quarter and say that their work was done? Say rather that the greater glory would be theirs if the field was won. Applause.

At one time he had been a gold monometallist, but he had studied the question and was no longer one, because he would rather be honest than a monometallist. [Cheers laughter and applause.] It was said that the Republicans were going to join with the Democrats in repealing the Sherman law. What Republicans and what Democrats? Republicans of the east and Democrats of the east. But in his opinion the salvation of the country depended upon the people who were living west of the Alleghenies and south of Mason and Dixon's line. [Applause.]

Catchings, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution authorizing the appointment of committees by the speaker. Several of the most important committees are increased in membership.

More Failures.

NEW YORK, August 18.—Eppinger & Russell, lumber dealers, have assigned. Liabilities $400,000.

ST. LOUIS, August 18.—A special to an evening paper from Lemar, Ia., says: Four banks at this place failed to open their doors this morning. They are the First National, with a capital of $100,000; Lemar National, same capital; the German American Savings, $50,000, capital, and the German state bank, $50,000 All have large surplus accounts and have been ranged among the institutions in the state. They closed because of their inability to get cash. All were in good condition for ordinary times, but the withdrawals of cash had been steady and the collaterals could not be realized upon. The action of the banks was a complete surprise and has caused a panic in town.

The officers of the bank say they will pay every dollar when they can liquidate advantageously.

A BRUTAL EXHIBITION.

Indians at the World's Fair Practice the Torture Dance.

CHICAGO, August 18.—A thousand people lined the edge of the grand basin at the world's fair and watched four Quack Ahl Indians undergo the torture dance. The horrible cermony took place on a float in the center of the basin. Four braves, who underwent the dance, had thongs passed through strips of flesh cut in the back. Other Indians took the loose ends of the thongs, and using them as reins drove the performers around the float as if they were driving horses, causing them the most excruciating agony. Finally the thongs pulled entirely loose, tearing the flesh and causing blood to flow. One of them lost his reason because of the awful pain. He sprang upon Interpreter Ford, fastened his teeth in his arms and hung on until the united strength of several men was necessary to open his jaws. He will recover his reason in a short time.

Virginia Democrats.

RICHMOND, August 18.—The Democratic state convention nominated O'Ferral for governor, and renominated R. Taylor Scott for attorney general. Amid a scene of great confusion the platform adopted indorsed the money and tariff planks of the national platform. All efforts to secure an introduction of free coinage failed.

Laid to Rest.

The funeral of the late Captain C. A. Bragg took place from the family residence yesterday afternoon. The religious services were conducted by Rev. W. R. Jenvey in accordance with the ritual of the Episcopal church. The Masonic fraternity, of which the deceased was a member, marched in procession from their hall to the residence and took charge of the body. The grand chapter of R. A. M. was represented by R. H. Kinney, D. G. H. P.; Stewart Logan, G. K.; G. H. Fogg, G. S.; G. H. Cunningham, G. C. of H.; W. L. Bechtel, G. R. A. C.; E. D. Kelley, G. T.; W. D. Phillips, G. R.; L. L. Crockett, G. C.; L. J. Heliotropes were stationed on the summit of Treels peak and Round Top or Alpine peak, for the purpose of showing signals to northern points to be hereafter occupied.

The party will probably spend most of the summer and fall in the mountains northwest of Reno.

Cures others, will cure you

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Stopped by a Footpad.

The Virginia Chronicle says I. Postowalski met with an exciting incident last Monday, while on the road between Dayton and Silver City, being stopped about noon near the old McCone foundry, below Silver City, by a solitary highwayman, who demanded his money and was amply prepared to take his life. Postowalski gave him half a dollar and went to Silver City and put Sheriff Donnelly of Lyon county on the highwayman's trail. The sheriff arrested him and the bold bad man proved to be Ernest Hortig, who is known in Virginia city as the "Idaho detective." His examination is to take place to-day.

In Favor of the County.

The case of the county against the Cochrane Ditch Company was decided by Justice Linn in favor of the county, and the ditch company has appealed to the district court.

The company's ditch crosses the Virginia road near Steiner's place, within the town limits. The county built a bridge across the ditch and brought suit against the ditch company for the cost of the bridge. It is alleged that the bridge has been used continuously for nearly thirty years, and the road was declared a public highway about nine years later, though it was a toll road before the ditch was built.

Bichloride Institute.

The cures performed in Reno by the Western Bichloride Institute are rapidly silencing all opposition to the institute and its method of treating those addicted to the liquor and kindred habits. Nearly every week one or more patients are being turned out cured—new men in body, in appetite, in will power. Many of them have been life-long drinkers and are well known in this community, and to-day they are again free men with absolutely no desire for liquor in any form. The institute makes no flourish of triumph but goes quietly on in its mission of destroying what is known as the alcohol disease. *

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a cough, cold, or any trouble with throat, chest or lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from lagrippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store. Large size 50c. and $1 00.

The bright star seen in the west near and soon after sunset is Venus. It appears a little farther south each evening and about the 24th, when it will set exactly in the west when it will be over the earth's equator. Saturn, at sunset is in the far southwest apparantly near a faint star by which it may be seen to change its position. Jupiter rises about midnight, and is the most conspicious object in the eastern morning skies.

THE STEWART BILL.

Intended to Give Immediate Relief without Involving the Discussion of the Whole Financial Question.

The following is from the Congressional Record:

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives, etc.: That the secretary of the treasury be, and he is hereby, directed to issue silver certificates of the character and denominations as now provided by law equal in amount to the silver bullion in the treasury purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, entitled "An act directing the purchase of silver bullion and and the issuance of treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes," in excess of the amount necessary, at its coining value, to redeem the treasury notes issued under said act, and to use the same, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to provide for any deficiency in the revenues of the government, and to use the balance of such certificates in the purchase of United States 4 per cent bonds at the market price thereof, not exceeding 12 per cent premium on the face value of such bonds; and the secretary shall, as fast as practicable, coin such excess of silver and hold the same for the redemption of the certificates provided for by this act.

SEC 2. That the secretary of the treasury be, and he is hereby, further directed to issue $100,000,000 of United States legal tender notes of the character and description of the United States legal tender notes now outstanding, and purchase with such notes United States 4 per cent bonds, at the market price, not exceeding 12 per cent premium on the face value of the bonds so purchased, and the bonds purchased under the provisions of this act shall be held in the treasury as security for the redemption of the treasury notes issued under this act.

Mr. Stewart—I should like to call the attention of the Finance Committee to this bill. My effort in drawing it has been to give immediate relief, without involving the discussing of the whole financial question; on the one hand without involving the discussion of increasing the circulation of the national banks, against which both houses have so frequently voted, and also without involving the question of supplying additional currency by restoring the laws of free coinage as they had existed until 1873, because the condition of the country is such that before measures so important as either of those could be determined much harm would take place. Before the recommendation of the president could be considered and discussed here many worthy citizens would be ruined and much injury would result to the whole country.

Now, I do not propose to inquire into how this panic came, or whose fault it was There is no time for that now. When the house is on fire we must put out the flames first. There is a currency famine in the country. Banks are closing their doors, the masses are being thrown out of employment, and before any relief can be reached great distress will occur. The repeal of the Sherman act may or may not do good. I think it would do great harm and add much to the present financial trouble, but that may or may not be true. We know very well if we could put out some currency for immediate use it would be a great relief.

There are 49,000,000 of silver in the treasury which is subject to be coined and silver certificates issued for it. They have been coming part of it and issuing silver certificates, but there is no authority in the treasury department to issue the certificates until it is coined. This bill authorizes the department to issue certificates immediately for the amount they have on hand and coin it afterwards. There is $49,000,000. Then the bill further provides for the issuance of $100,000,000 of greenbacks, as they are called, treasury notes, and purchase bonds, and put the bonds in the treasury and hold them as security for the notes. The notes can be retired with these bonds at any time hereafter. If this could be done nearly $150,000,000 of money would be furnished to the county and it would give immediate relief.

My information is that the savings banks have a very large amount of 4 per cent bonds which they hold as investments. It is impossible for them to convert those bonds into currency. They have been compelled to require sixty days' notice before they can pay their depositors. That is creating great distress and great alarm. If they could convert their bonds immediately into currency and relieve the stringency it certainly would give us time to think over the matter and mature something that will meet the judgment of the American people.

I do not think that this is a time for angry discussion. What ought to be done ought to be done deliberately. What I propose is that we shall give immediate relief and than consider the general proposition, and it seems to me that we should not stand here and discuss the question while the country is in such a terrible state of panic. It appears to me that it would be unpatriotic for any man to get up any discussion before immediate relief is given. The silver men do not believe that they can allow the act of 1890 to be repealed because they think that is monometallism, and they will have to struggle against it. They believe that that would be the end of free coinage forever They cannot give up that act and you can not expect them to do it.

But we do not want to be placed in a position where we must contend for what we believe should be contended for. We do not want to be charged with doing anything to hinder relief while the country is suffering as it now is. I appeal to the senate if this is not the right scheme, to adopt a scheme to get out currency at once and then we may if possible, stop this panic and give prosperity to the country. These are mere suggestions. If this bill is not in the right form, any temporary measure that will give immediate relief, so that we can discuss these questions calmly, is what I am in favor of.

I call the particular attention of the finance committee to this scheme and ask them to examine it and adopt it, or some scheme of this nature, that does not involve the whole money question, but which will get out immediate currency and stop the panic. I call upon the committee as patriotic citizens to lend their aid to that first before we take up the general question of finance.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

Foster's Forecasts—Sun Spots and storm Waves.

Copyrighted 1893 by W. T. Foster.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 19.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm waves to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th, and from the 21st to the 25th. The next will reach the Pacific coast about the 25th, cross the western mountains by the close of the 27th, the great central valleys from the 28th to the 30th, and the eastern states about the 31st. This storm will develop its greatest force in the Mississippi valley from the 28th to the 30th, and will probably become a furious storm on the 29th.

This storm wave will maugurate a great change in the weather, and the torrid temperature of August will disappear as the storm wave advances toward the Atlantic. The rain belt, which will have advanced far to the north, will return to the southern states, and fall-like weather with the sere and yellow leaf will come in rapidly. But frost will not be unusually early.

The warm wave will cross the western mountains about the 26th, the great central valleys about the 28th, and the eastern states about the 30th. The cool wave will cross the western mountains about the 29th, the great central valleys about the 31st, and the eastern states about September 2d.

SUN SPOTS.

As the laws of nature are everywhere the same, general results must necessarily be very similar. The sun is only an old and well developed earth, and in time our earth must necessarily become a sun, and the center of a solar system. We already have the beginning of a planet—our moon—and as the ages roll and millions of years pass to the rear, our earth, growing larger, more powerful, shining more and more of its magnetic light, growing into a sun, will catch in its spider like net of magnetic currents other comets as it caught that great comet, which, stripped of its attendent gasses and flying debris, we now recognize as the queen of the evening shade.

Sun spots are the attendents of sun storms, as our high barometers are the attendents of our storm centers. Study our high barometers, and you will readily understand the nature of sun spots.

STORM WAVES.

That which we call a storm wave, consists of two parts, a high and a low barometer. The latter is the storm center, the former the anti-storm center, or clearing weather. The wind blows into a low barometer at its base or next to the earth, coming from all directions, but principally from the direction of the high barometer

These high and low barometers extend far up into the atmosphere. In the ordinary storm, the average height to which these down pours and upward-spouting columns of air affect the atmosphere, average perhaps ten miles, while a tornado probably throws a spiral column of air to a height of fifty miles.

The wind pours into a high barometer at its top, coming from all directions, but principally from the low barometer at its side. This pouring down of air columns is not unlike a great waterfall, a Niagara, rushing in almost straight lines, toward the center of the high barometer, which is much smaller at its top than at its bottom.

After this down-pour of fresh air from above has entered the high barometer and is falling toward the earth, it gradually takes up a spiral movement, turning, in northern lattitudes with the hands of the watch, or to the right. If we were viewing the air movement in the high barometer from above, we could seldom see this spiral movement, because we would only see the top currents which all move in nearly straight lines toward the center of the high barometer's vortex.

The cirrus clouds, the most elevated seen in our atmosphere, usually move toward the top of our high barometer, and their moisture remains transparent until the air has again become condensed by entering the low barometer.

There are two kinds of these high, and two kinds of low barometers on the earth. One stationary, the other transcient. The stationary or perpetual high barometers, cover very large areas. One of them covers the north Atlantic ocean, and another the north Pacific. Two others cover the south Atlantic and the south Pacific, and a fifth the Indian ocean. They never change, but are perpetual.

The air currents in these perpetual high barometers are constant, except a small variation between winter and summer. Facing the equator, these currents always run with the sun. To illustrate, I will describe the north Atlantic high barometer.

THE TRADE WINDS

Are the air currents of this north Atlantic high barometer. Down toward the equator, the wind blows almost constantly to the westward, and sailing ships from Europe or Africa veer their course toward the equator, so as catch the westward breeze. Columbus did not understand these trade winds, and therefore was becalmed in his voyage, because he took a straight route through the center of the north Atlantic, where a dead calm is the rule. He also encountered a vast amount of sea weed, liable to clog the speed of sailing vessels. He was in the Sargasso sea, the center of the north Atlantic, and its high barometer.

Not only the wind, but the waters of the sea move around this central Sargasso sea. Along the American coast the waters of the Gulf Stream and the prevalent winds move north-eastward, then cross the Atlantic, and then turn to the south down the European and African coasts, thus completing the circle. Sailing ships return to Europe by the north side of this high barometer. A portion of the waters, however, separate from the regular current and pass north of Europe and Asia, and as the Mediterranean sea evaporates more water than is emptied into it by rains and rivers, there is a strong current of sea water rushing into that sea by the straits of Gibraltar.

The remains of wrecked ships, seaweed, storm waves etc, continually move around the center of this north Atlantic high barometer. The storms of that ocean develop on its western borders, move northeastward, and if viewed from the sun, moon, or any other outside point, would appear to revolve around the earth in less than twenty-four hours, and if the earth's revolution on its axis was estimated by those storm waves, the earth would appear to revolve in less time than it really does.

May Have Overdone the Business.

The city fathers of Carson have passed an ordinance making it a penal offense for any saloon keeper to sell or give intoxicating liquors to persons who are under treatment by the Keeley Institute.

To an outsider this looks as if the ordinance had placed the saloon men in close quarters. Unless every patient under treatment is registered, tagged or marked in some manner so that his identity could be readily detected the barkeeper is liable to be arrested every time he waits on a customer. Perhaps the city fathers thought the luminous nose of the customer would be a sufficient warning. No doubt the ordinance was passed with good intentions and with the view of aiding the efforts of the Keeley Institute of that city, but it is liable to have the opposite effect. There is, no doubt, a number of people in Carson who would be glad to be cured of the liquor habit, but a great many such may object to surrendering in advance what they may consider an inallenable right in order to obtain a cure.

Improving.

Readers of the Carson Tribune, have doubtless observed the improvement which has taken place in that journal recently. Some attribute it to the fact that the Deacon has been away to the lakes, leaving the entire management in the hands of Percy Parkinson, the youngest and brightest of the family.

"German Syrup"

The majority of well-read physicians now believe that Consumption is a germ disease. In other words, instead of being in the constitution itself it is caused by innumerable small creatures living in the lungs having no business there and eating them away as caterpillars do the leaves of trees. The phlegm that is coughed up is those parts of the lungs which have been gnawed off and destroyed. These little bacilli, as the germs are called, are too small to be seen with the naked eye, but they are very much alive just the same, and enter the body in our food, in the air we breathe, and through the pores of the skin. Thence they get into the blood and finally arrive at the lungs where they fasten and increase with frightful rapidity. Then German Syrup comes in, loosens them, kills them, expells them, heals the places they leave, and so nourish and soothe that, in a short time consumptives become germ-proof and well.

The House as a Pet.

A winsome pet is the common brown mouse, and now I fancy I hear the most vigorous protests from my readers, who, though they do not shriek and take refuge on chairs and tables like Howells' feminine characters, still have a strong feeling of distaste to him. Nothing can be imagined more dainty, graceful and altogether captivating than the tricks and manners of this humble resident within our walls.

Once allay the poor little creature's fears of his big, clumsy human persecutors, and his delightsome qualities are apparent. Frisky in movements, droll in conceits and eccentric of action, he is a never ending source of entertainment. Moreover, he is as teachable as the rat, absolutely neat in his ways and most loving to his friends.—Harper's Bazar.

Good Lawyers.

Some of the most pious, the most consecrated, the most consistent, the most humble Christians we have known personally and intimately have been or are now lawyers. We could name several who have through long lives lived close up to their Heavenly Father in sweet and gracious communion. We say further that many of the purest, noblest men we have known—patriots in a high sense, with lofty ideals and a morale comparable to the best—were lawyers. They were an ornament to their country and the human race. We know some of this kind who still survive.—Wilmington (N. C.) Messenger.

Surprised at Clerical Uneasiness.

Dr. Berrian, a former rector of Trinity parish in New York city, was an indifferent preacher, but a fine executive officer and a man of great personal kindliness. Withal he was very simple hearted. A country clergyman, half starved on a salary of $500 a year, came to Dr. Berrian asking his influence to get him a better charge. "Dear me!" answered the good old man "I don't see why you young clergymen want to change so often. Why, I have been here in Trinity church for 40 years and never have thought of leaving."—San Francisco Argonaut.

"The Wind Blew Through His Whiskers."

A correspondent of the Pittsburg Dispatch says that the very objectionable bit of slang, "The wind blew through his whiskers," is not American at all. In fact, he says, it was first used by an Englishman, one Dan Chaucer, who wrote the "Canterbury Tales." In the tale of "The Shipman" occurs this remarkable line, "With many a tempest had his beard been shaken."

Keep the scalp clean, healthy, and free from irritating eruptions, by the use of Skookum Skin Soap. It destroys parasitic insects, which feed on and destroy the hair.

The Author of "Gulliver."

Between 1714 and 1726, for a dozen years, Swift remained in Ireland, without intermission, altogether apart from public life. At the latter date he went to London, probably needing a change of scene after the shock of Miss Vanhomrigh's death and the grievous sense he must have had that it was he who had killed her, and it was then that "Gulliver" was published. The latter portions of it, which the children have rejected, we are glad to have no space to dwell upon. The bitterness, passion and misery of them are beyond parallel. One would like to have any ground for believing that the Houyhnhms and the rest came into being after Stella's death, but this was not the case. She was only a woman and was not, after all, of such vital importance in the man's existence.

Withdrawal from the life he loved, confinement in a narrow sphere, the disappointment of a soul which felt itself born for greatness and had tasted the high excitements of power, but now had nothing to do but fight over the choir with his archbishop and give occasion for a hundred anecdotes in the Dublin coterys, had matured the angry passion in him and soured the sweetness of nature. Few people now, when they take up their "Gulliver," go beyond Brobdingnag. The rest is like a succession of bad dreams, the confused miseries of a fever. To think that in a deanery, that calm seat of ecclesiastical luxury, within sound of the cathedral bells and the choristers' chants, a brain so dark and distracted and dreams so terrible should have found shelter!—Mrs. Oliphant in Century.

Disputing Over Fruit.

Two men got into a controversy over a strange looking fruit which they saw on a stand in the Washington market. One thought it was a small citron melon, and the other believed it to be some kind of tomato. They referred the question to the dealer, who said

"It's an alligator pear, and your dispute about it reminds me of a difference between a couple of my customers over a pumpkin. They couldn't agree that it was not a squash."—New York Times

A Good Enough Reason.

The handsome hospital nurse who married the old wealthy man the other day was very happy in her reply to a friend who asked why she wedded such a fossil, "I thought I might as well be engaged in nursing one old man as a dozen."—Exchange.

A Clever Reminder.

A very brave soldier [illegible] both his arms carried off in battle, [illegible] which his colonel offered him half a crown.

"Colonel," said the soldier, "you think I have lost a pair of gloves."—London Tit-Bits.

A FAIR TRIAL of Hood's Sarsaparilla guarantees a complete cure. It is an honest medicine, honestly advertised and it honestly CURES

M. Turpin [illegible] released from prison after having been unjustly convicted of selling explosives [illegible] manufacture of his machine, is reported to have invented a new war machine of a very deadly character. It appears that it is a very light mortar, can be served by four men and drawn by two horses. It shoots four times in a quarter of an hour and each discharge throws 25,000 projectiles, which hit at 3,000 meters, scattering in every direction and covering geometrically 2,500 square meters. Ordinary commercial vessels and fishing boats can be armed with this electric machine without any important change in their equipment. It is expected to make any one of them more than a match for the greatest battleship in existence. It is claimed that the projectiles of this machine can pierce the heaviest armor as easily as a rifle ball passes through an ordinary plank.

If the machine is anything like what it is reported to be, all forts and fortifications will be rendered practically useless. They can be reduced to a heap of ruins in a few hours.

A reporter of The Temps interviewed M. Turpin the other day in regard to the machine. "The reports in the newspapers," he said, "are exact in substance, but in the way that they are put nobody can understand anything of my invention. It was during my imprisonment at Etamps that I devised the thing, but the invention is as yet only theoretical, because I have not been able to experiment with it. But at the same time I am certain of success. On the other hand, I have taken out no patent, because by doing so I would immediately throw my invention to the public, and that is precisely what I wish to avoid. In a short time I hope to be able to present myself to the ministry, and then I can exhibit my invention and make experiments. I cannot say any more about it at present."

Hammocks are more luxurious than ever before. In their latest form they include a canopy for keeping off the sun and a net for protection against flies mosquitoes and gnats.

Two sisters will make their appearance in London next year. One is 8 feet high, with hands 32 inches in length, and the other is not 2 feet high and weighs 31 pounds.

The most stubborn skin and scalp diseases, the worst forms of scrofula, all blood-taints of every name and nature, are utterly rooted out by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. For every disease caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, it is the only remedy so certain and effective that it can be guaranteed. If it fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

Eczema, Tetter, Saltrheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Enlarged glands, Tumors and swellings, and every kindered ailment, are completely and permanently cured by it.

SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE STATE of Nevada, in and for Washoe county. The State of Nevada sends to Alexander McMurtrey greeting: You are required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant, by Etta McMurtrey as plaintiff, in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of day of service) if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. RULES AND CONDITIONS.

Races begin at 1 o'clock sharp P. M.

Dial clock indicates the time each race starts.

Thirty minutes between races.

Signals—Bell call denotes to saddle. Bugle calls the horses to post.

The bugle call will be precisely five minutes after the saddle call.

Owners, trainers, jockeys or others having care of the animal that do not send the horse out promptly at post signal will be fined.

Nominations to all stakes must be made to the Secretary on or before the 1st day of September, 1893.

Entries for the running purses must be made two days preceding the race, before 6 o'clock P. M.

Those who have nominated in stakes must name to the Secretary in writing which they will start the day before the race at 6 P. M.

Horses entered in purses can only be drawn by consent of the judges.

In making entries for purse races, the name, age and sex of the horse, and the weight and colors of the rider must be given. After a horse has run once at the meeting, the name of the horse, with the weight to be carried at the race is sufficient.

In purses and stakes, three horses of different interests to enter and start or the race may be declared off by the executive committee.

In all free for all running races, except handicaps, and where other stipulated conditions do not conflict with this rule, all horses that have not won before September 1st, will be allowed ten pounds, and all horses that have won prior to September 1st shall carry five pounds over scale weight.

Ten per cent. entrance to all races unless the conditions otherwise stipulate, and must be paid prior to weighing the jockey out.

Where there is more than one entry by one person, or in one interest, the particular horse they are to start must be named by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race.

No added money paid for a walk-over.

Entries to all Trotting and Pacing races close September 1st with the Secretary.

All Trotting and Pacing purses divided at the rate of 60, 30 and 10 per cent.

All Trotting and Pacing races are the best three in five, unless otherwise specified; five or more to enter and three or more to start, but the Board reserves the right to hold a less number than five to fill, by the withdrawal of a proportionate amount of the purse, which shall be divided pro rata.

In all two in three race horses not winning one heat in two must go to the stable; and in all three in five races horses not winning one heat in three must go to the stable.

The Board reserves the right to trot heats of any two classes alternately if necessary to finish any day's racing, or to trot a special race between heats.

When less than the required number of starters appear they may contest for the entrance money, to be divided as follows 66⅔ to the first and 33⅓ to the second.

In dividing purses no horse shall receive more than one money.

At the discretion of the Board, and without notice, the entries of any person may be refused.

Every person subscribing to a sweepstake, or entering a horse in a running race, under these conditions, accepts the decision of the Board of Directors on any question relating to a race or racing.

National Trotting Association rules to govern trotting races. Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association rules to govern all running races where they do not conflict with these conditions.

All entries must be addressed to C. H. Stoddard, Reno, Nevada.

W. O. H. MARTIN, President.
